- Contemporary retractable roman style shade canopy in decorative Mocha, Smoke or Terracotta elevates the comfort level of any patio, deck or backyard by reducing temperatures beneath up to 32°
- The weather resistant Coolaroo knitted fabric is breathable and light filtering, guards against mold and mildew, is easy to clean and will not fade, crack or rot
- Sturdy yet lightweight powder coated aluminum frame is corrosion resistant for superior long life
- Five year fabric warranty against UV degradation

Ready to upscale your outdoor entertaining? Tired of that sun beating down on your neck? Looking for a shade solution that transitions from day to evening? Our Coolaroo Constantine Pergola offers a sophisticated and architectural alternative to lower cooling costs by reducing temperatures up to 32%, to protect furniture, tiling or decking from fading and to battle against sun deterioration. Coolaroo's knitted fabric allows hot air to escape and cool breezes to filter through. The fully retractable cover allows for star gazing without moving from your comfy lounger. Measuring 9'x9', covering 81 st ft, Constantine maximizes shading potential. And it looks fabulous! Note: Two people required for assembly. Beyond a reduction in temperatures, our fabrics are earth friendly, are recyclable and endorsed by GreenGuard, the Melanoma International Foundation and Oeko-Tex.

Beyond a reduction in temperatures, our fabrics are earth friendly, are recyclable and endorsed by GreenGuard, the Melanoma International Foundation and OekoTex.

Ours is the story of a hard-working Australian family that turned a small hand-woven scarf business into one of the world's most important manufacturers and marketers of Advanced Polymer textiles and value added products, the transformation of a small knitting mill into a multi-million dollar global enterprise with the introduction of the world's first shade cloth knitting technology, the need based ingenuity of people adapting to the extreme temperature fluctuations. Future fabric developments seek to reduce environmental footprints even further while continuing to provide homeowners with the value and quality they have come to expect...and deserve.
